Death Reports to a Health Resort COVER REVEAL

Anty Boisjoly against the elements

in his (and, quite probably, anyone's) first locked-tree murder mystery

When his uncle is accused of murder by the wary and weary and ever leery Inspector Wittersham, Anty's mum sends him to the wilds of Epping Forest to sort out who could have murdered the universally disliked taskmaster of a health resort dedicated to the repression and suppression of the seven best sins.

And things only get worse for Anty's Uncle Pim when his nemesis dies in another murder that both eye-witnesses — Anty Boisjoly and Inspector Wittersham — swear was impossible.

Now the scary 'flower and bee' motif has been settled, we can bandy prospective launch dates of Death Reports to a Health Resort exclusively to subscribers to this newsletter — Anty faces the elements of Epping on late-August/early September.

Watch out for the follow-up newsletter just as soon as there's a precise date and pre-order link to share.

Sneaky Cheeky Teddy Peaky

The only bearing this cartoon has on the next Teddy Quillfeather Mystery is the theme of gambling, but it's a big theme when Teddy goes to the races as...

Frauds On Favourite

...crosses the finish line in November 2024

That leaves plenty of time, if you haven't already, to read Hardy Haul at Hardy Hall, the first Teddy Quillfeather Mystery and the subject of this edition's cryptic clue.
